

DOVER RAIDED BY GERMAN SEAPLANES

ALLIES HOLD ON SOMME

Entente Steel Circle Closing In On Central Powers East and West

LONDON, Aug. 12.—The British port of Dover was raided at noon today by two German seaplanes that dropped four bombs. An officer and six men were wounded, but no damage of military importance was done. The war office, in an official communication this afternoon, gave notice of the attack.

Dover is a part of great military importance, as many of the British transports plying between the British and French coasts leave and put in there.

ROME, Aug. 12.—A great battle has developed around Tolmino (Tolma), and the capture of the city by the Italians is believed to be imminent.

While the right wing of the Italian armies operating on the Isonzo front has been occupying the Dobersdo plateau and driving the Austro-Hungarians from their positions on that high ground, the left wing has been advancing victoriously against formidable positions between Caporetto and Selo, which lie north and south of Tolmino, respectively. While the third Italian army under the Duke of Aosta is pushing on east of Gorizia the Austro-Hungarians are trying to re-form their ranks. The rear guard actions that have been precipitated by the Entente have all resulted in favor of the victorious Italians. It is reported that the Austrians are preparing to evacuate Trieste.

LONDON, Aug. 12.—Continuous fighting is in progress in the district north of Pozieres, on the Somme front, where the British are at grips with the Germans.

The Germans assaulted the new positions of the British in that region last night, the war office announced today, but the attack was repulsed.

Elsewhere the official report states, the position on the British front is unchanged.

PARIS, Aug. 12.—Futile attempts were made by the Germans last night to recapture from the French some of the ground lost on the Somme front.

Not only were the counter attacks of the Germans beaten off but the war office states that a French reconnaissance north of the Somme river penetrated the German position in Hem wood.

ALLIES TIGHTEN GRIP.

East and West the Circle of Steel is Closing In.

LONDON, Aug. 12.—The supreme effort of the allies to tighten the circle of steel which has been forged around the armies of the central powers and those of their allies is now in full swing for the first time since the war began two years ago. With the opening of the drive against the Bulgars in Macedonia the allies are now upon the offensive on the five theaters of war.

From every front steady progress is reported for the armies of England, France, Russia and Italy.

Fighting is in progress over battle lines nearly 3,000 miles in length. In the eastern theater the Russians are rolling forward in Galicia crushing out Austro-German resistance wherever it is attempted. Following the fall of Stanislaw the Russians are again driving northward in the direction of Lemberg and it is believed that the important fortified Galician city of Halicz has either been captured by the Russians or is on the point of falling into their hands.

In the western theater of war the Anglo-French armies are carrying out a methodical advance on the Somme front while at Verdun the French have launched counter blows which are winning back, piece by piece, the ground lost to the Germans in their furious drive that was begun on February 20 last.

PETROGRAD, Aug. 12.—Despatches from the Galician front to the Petrograd newspapers describe the defeat of the Austrians in the Stanislaw region as a rout. They state that the entire right wing of the enemy was thrown into confusion by the rapid advance of the Russians and that great numbers surrendered. A thrilling race is now in progress southeast of Lemberg. The shattered Austrians are trying to withdraw to positions prepared in anticipation of the forced abandonment of Stanislaw. The Russians are close on their heels, in continual contact with the retreating army's rear guards.

Cannon Used By Italians In Reducing Gorizia

ITALIAN GUN NEAR GORIZIA. This is one of the 505 m.m. guns used effectively by the Italians in the siege of Gorizia, which was just ended successfully for the Italians. Immense difficulties were encountered by the Italians in moving these big guns in the mountainous sections of the Isonzo front. Engineers, however, solved the problem and heavy artillery fire was poured into the Austrian defenses.

New Post-Office For Lima Approved By Treasury Department

A new post office building, on a site which is to cost $85,000, will be erected in Lima according to the promises implied in the action of the department of the treasury in requesting Congressman J. Edward Russell to introduce into the house of representatives a bill to that effect.

Although the federal treasury department is ordinarily engaged in fighting postal appropriations, this measure because of the peculiar significance of being urged by the department and the congressman acting as sponsor to the bill at the request of the department.

The announcement made from Washington last night is devoid of details, but states merely that Congressman Russell has been asked by representatives of Secretary McAdoo's department to introduce an appropriation measure calling for $85,000 for the purchase of a site for a new building.

Postmaster James E. Sullivan, when apprised this morning of the action of the department, stated that he has had no official notification of the matter, and could therefore give no plans regarding the new site or building. He explained, however, the chief causes which led to the action and the comparative status of the local postal plant as against that of ten years ago.

"On assuming the duties of postmaster, February 15, 1915, I was impressed at once with the need of greater floor space, more working room and increased facilities for handling the rapidly-growing mail service of Lima. The present building is entirely inadequate to meet our present needs, and the quarters are too cramped to allow much breathing space during the rush seasons. The first thing to do was to convince the postal authorities of the necessity of a new building and the next step was the conversion of the treasury department. Both were shown and after a long correspondence both became convinced of Lima's just claim to a larger office. In a conversation with Senator Pomerehne during one of his visits here I found him favorable, but I didn't know until you mentioned it that Mr. Russell had been asked to introduce the appropriation bill."

Comparison of the statistical data of ten years ago with those of the present day substantiate Postmaster Sullivan's claim regarding the worth of the service in Lima and the development of increased demands for enlargement. Ten years ago there were 14 clerks, today 22. Instead of 15 carriers, as then, there are now 10 more. The receipts for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1906, totaled $60,450.41, and for the year ending June 30, 1916, the figures were $122,950.94, or more than twice the receipts for ten years ago.

The city has grown from about 25,000 population in 1906 to 43,823, as stated in the last city directory. The last decade has witnessed the introduction of the postal savings bank and the parcel post system. In 1906 there were no contract stations, while today there are five—three in South Lima and one each in the east and west ends. The number of employees ten years ago was 38, while today it is 58, and in ten years the number may reach the estimated total of 83.

The present post office has been in use since 1893. In that year the office was moved from the old Masonic building. In 1910 the building

SOCIETY BANDITS BLACKMAIL PATRONS OF COAST RESORTS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Society bandits, in organized gangs, who again are plying their trade among the wealthy patrons of Atlantic City, Cape May, Bar Harbor and other fashionable coast resorts, have exacted vast sums of money from victims in blackmailing holdups, according to information reaching the department of justice today. Attorney General Gregory, in an order directed the activity of his secret service men from other channels to "hot trails" to apprehend at least a dozen suspects who have wrung thousands of dollars from the victimized.

Among the numerous cases which have been brought to the attention of the department in the last 24 hours is that of a prominent society woman whose fortune of $100,000 paid tribute to the silence of polished gangsters. At the department of justice a discreet reticence is maintained as to the principals in this and numerous other cases and names are not divulged.

The official records, however, it is admitted, disclose that the gay summer season has been a most disastrous one for more than a full score—officially reported cases—of light-hearted pleasure seekers. Hundreds of other cases, the department suspects, never will be reported, and it is even doubtful that the government could secure evidence in the cases now reported in which individuals rather would suffer the loss of "hush money" than the unpleasant notoriety that an admission of the facts might create.

The department today announced that it had secured the earnest cooperation of the local police authorities at the seaside resorts in the effort to break up the suspected hold-up gangs, and with evidence in hand

PARALYSIS PLAGUE UNCHECKED AS YET

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—New cases of infantile paralysis during the 24 hours ending at 10 a. m. today numbered 167. There were 42 deaths in the same period. The hopes of physicians that the cool weather would check the epidemic have not been fulfilled as yet. The health department announced that ten more persons who have recovered from the disease have come forward and offered to give blood serum for the treatment of those who are ill.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 12.—Eight new cases of infantile paralysis were reported here today, making a total of 157 cases since July 1, and 84 deaths. Two deaths from the disease were reported in Camden, N. J., this morning.

supply yesterday, and force the public to accept inferior milk and to do without milk.

State mediators so far have been unable to make any headway towards a settlement of the difficulties, the main stumbling block being the unwillingness of strike leaders to submit the closed shop proposition to arbitration.

There have been no serious riots since the strike was inaugurated and representatives of the men claim they intend to carry on a peaceable warfare. Some of the drivers who refused to go out have been beaten up, however, one so badly that he may lose the sight of one eye. Fred Tenay, was taken to St. Luke's hospital after several men overtook him as he drove from the Telling Cedar avenue plant with a truck-load of milk cans and beat him up. His eye glasses were splintered and a piece of the glass penetrated his eye.

Chief of Police W. S. Rowe declared today that unless milk company officials are able to keep up the supply of milk to hospitals and babies he will use police emergency automobiles for delivery.

SITUATION DEADLOCKED.

Mediation Board in Session Far Into Night in New York.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—A national railroad strike, temporarily averted by federal mediators, loomed threateningly today. Far into the night the government board of mediation and conciliation had labored to effect a proposal which would induce the railway employees to accept arbitration and prevent a strike that would affect approximately 400,000 men, 220,000 miles of roads and 225 railroads.

This was the attitude of the railway today: "We are willing to accept arbitration."

The employees' attitude was: "There is nothing to arbitrate."

When the mediators prepared to meet the employees' delegates today the general sentiment among the brotherhood leaders was that a breaking off of negotiations was imminent. They asserted that the demands of the men for an eight-hour day and time and a half for overtime would have to be granted; that no compromise was possible.

The mediators refused to abandon hope, however. William L. Chambers, a member of the federal board, said: "It is hard to say when our efforts to bring about a friendly settlement of the controversy will end. Personally, I am still very hopeful."

That a strike would be ordered as soon as the mediation efforts ended was the intimation that came direct from the labor leaders. In that case it was understood that President Wilson would call representatives of both sides to Washington and that the strike would not go into effect until the nation's chief executive had an opportunity to act.

FLOYD THOMAS DIES AT DIST. HOSPITAL

The death of Floyd Earl Thomas, 31 years of age, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas, occurred last night at 8:30 o'clock at the District Tuberculosis hospital.

He was born in Van Wert county, where he was engaged in farming up to a few years ago, when he came to Lima and entered the employ of the Ohio Electric Railway Company as conductor on the city lines.

A brother, Homer, resides at 1108 North West street, to which place the body was removed. Services will be held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Kingsley Methodist church south of Van Wert, and interment will be made at Van Wert.

TWO APPEALS DENIED.

The court of appeals found no error in two cases which were passed up for their investigation from common pleas and yesterday they affirmed the judgment and remanded these cases back to common pleas for execution.

In the case of the village of Spencerville against F. S. Fitzer, the court thought the weight of evidence, but they affirmed it, with costs. Switzer was given damages against the village for the opening a street. The village took the case to the court of appeals.

The court found no error in the case of the Pennsylvania railroad against Frank Fisher. The railroad company tried to prevent by law the opening of a road across their tracks. Fisher had petitioned for the road and the same had been granted by the county commissioners.

The Trustees of Grace M. E. church will receive sealed bids for the sale of the Grace M. E. Tabernacle, located at the southeast corner of Elizabeth and Kibby streets, up to noon of August 21st, 1916. They reserve the right to reject any or all bids. See or address J. E. DeVoe, secretary. 1217

BASINGER FUNERAL MONDAY.

Basinger, two and one-half miles north of Columbus Grove. Interment will be at Zion cemetery, near Pandora.

The body was removed this morning from the Williams and Davis mortuary to the home of the parents in Pleasant township, Putnam county. Basinger died after injuries received from his train near Miami-burg Thursday.

DIVORCE REFUSED, ALIMONY GRANTED

"Case continued, hoping they will be reconciled and live together again."

This was what Judge William Klingler wrote in the trial docket today, after he had heard the story of Mrs. Blanche Gories, who wanted to be freed from her husband, Dr. W. C. Gories, with offices at 132 1-2 North Main street, and who is prominent in the affairs of the city.

Their marriage took place last March. In her petition for divorce, Mrs. Gories said that soon after the wedding he neglected her and refused to take her places with him or recognize her, in any way, as his wife.

The court ordered Dr. Gories to pay her $60 a month alimony, beginning with the twentieth of the month, thereafter. He did not appear in court to contest the suit.

Mrs. Ella M. Chancellor, Hazel avenue and Cole streets, married on August 9, 1902, came into court today, asking a divorce from her husband, William Chancellor. She says that ever since the ceremony in Columbus, she has supported herself and her husband, a part of the time. She has not heard from him for three months, she says and does not now know where he is. For the past three years he has refused and neglected to support her, the petition states, and abandoned their home.

She states he was well able to work, but spent his time with persons not his wife. She asks to be restored to her maiden name of Ella M. Sawyer and that his interest in her property, he barred.

Judge William Klingler heard the divorce case of Robert L. Spurr, of 303 West North street, against Rose Ural Spurr, who was not in court, today, and granted the husband the decree, upon the grounds of gross neglect of duty. He will be obliged to pay the court costs.

Mrs. Cattie Lowmaster, of 616 Atlantic avenue, was not able to make a case against her husband, Lawson Lowmaster, in court this morning, so Judge Klingler said. She wanted a divorce. The court gave her the privilege to amend her petition. She must pay costs.

The case of Beale Smith against Arthur Smith was heard, the latter not appearing in court. He must pay costs and $50 for her counsel, as well as $20 a month, on or before August 20.

Roy Gregg, manager of the suit and cloak department of the Gregg & Co. store, leaves tomorrow for New York to do his fall buying.

J. W. HORTON, DIES AFTER OPERATION

James M. Horton, 54 years old, died this morning at 6:30 o'clock at the city hospital, where he was taken on Thursday night for an operation for obstruction of the bowels. Death followed an illness of four weeks. He was born on November 8, 1863, in Iowa. He was in charge of the water service for the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton railroad.

He resided at 1234 West High street. The widow and two children are left. They are Elizabeth Winifred, teacher in the Longfellow school, and James H. Horton. He was a member of the Moose lodge.

Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at two o'clock at the residence and will be private. The Rev. C. H. Eckhardt of West Market street, will officiate. Interment will be at Woodlawn.

DAVID R. DAVIS IS BRONCHIAL VICTIM

David Roger Davis, 24 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Davis of 822 West Elm street, died this morning at an early hour, after an illness of four months from bronchial trouble. Davis was bill clerk at the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton freight offices. He was a member of the Knights and Ladies of Security.

He was born in Lima on April 6, 1892. Besides the parents, a brother Warren and three sisters, Mae, Ruth and Frances, all at home, are left. The Rev. I. J. Miller will conduct funeral services, to be held at the residence of the parents on Monday at two o'clock. Interment will be at Woodlawn.

MRS. VANDEGIFT IS CLAIMED BY DEATH

The death of Mrs. Jane Vandegift, wife of C. H. Vandegift, prominent photographer of Sidney, occurred last night at the city hospital, where for some weeks she has been receiving treatment for stomach trouble. Death was due to peritonitis.

She was the daughter of Mrs. Margaret Hitchcock and was born in Sidney fifty years ago. For six months she has been ill, this being her second trip to the hospital inside of a few months.

The body was accompanied this morning to Sidney, where funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Suffragists Whose Arguments Helped Change Candidate Hughes' Opinions

MRS. CARRIE CHAPMAN CATT DR. ANNA SHAW MRS. NORMAN DE R. WHITEHOUSE

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, one of the ablest, if not the ablest woman in the United States, president of the National American Woman's Suffrage Association, Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, former president, and Mrs. Norman De R. Whitehouse, chairman of the New York State Woman Suffrage party, were the three whose arguments did more to cause Charles E. Hughes to announce himself for federal action on the woman suffrage question than the work of any others.

Mrs. Catt, Dr. Shaw and Mrs. Whitehouse called on Mr. Hughes in his New York headquarters, July 17, and urged him to help the women of the country in their fight for the ballot by giving an endorsement of suffrage "without any strings attached."

Mr. Hughes listened to them attentively for more than an hour, and at the conclusion of the interview assured them that the National American Woman suffrage association would be satisfied with his stand on the suffrage question. The republican candidate's assurances were lived up to by him both in his recent telegram to Senator Sutherland, of Utah, and his speech before the Woman's Roosevelt league at the Astor hotel in New York City on August 1.

CHINESE PRESIDENT ORDERS TRIAL OF IMPERIAL AGENTS

PEKING, Aug. 12.—President Li Yuan-hung's mandate ordering the trial and punishment of nine prominent movers in the monarchical movement, including two former members of the cabinet, has created a profound sensation in China.

Liang Shih-yi, who was the confidential adviser of Yuan Shi-kai, is included in the list of monarchists who are to be tried and punished. Liang Shih-yi is now in Kiangsu, living under the protection of the British flag. It will be impossible to extradite Liang Shih-yi for a political offense. If the Chinese government were to make charges of embezzlement against him in connection with his direction of the affairs of the Bank of Communications it might be possible to extradite him. Criminal charges would probably command the attention of the English government, but it is quite unlikely that English officials in Peking would regard political offenses as proper grounds for extradition.

Chow Tzu-chi, for several years Yuan Shi-kai's minister of agriculture and commerce, and minister of finance during the last days of Yuan's regime, is also among the list of monarchists to be punished. He is now living in the British concession at Tien-tsin, and consequently is also beyond the reach of the Chinese government, unless it makes criminal charges.

Chu Chi-chien, Yuan Shi-kai's former minister of the interior, is the other cabinet member against whom the mandate is directed. Chu Chi-chien was at the head of the bureau which was making preparations for the enthronement ceremonies, and his name figures very prominently in connection with the monarchical movement from its very inception.

Yang Tu, the chief promoter of the Chou An Hui, or the Society for the Preservation of Peace, which formerly launched the monarchical movement in a public way, is the most prominent of the other men to be tried. The full text of the mandate for the punishment of monarchists follows:

"The movement for the change of form of state plunged the whole country into utter confusion and nearly caused it to suffer national extinction. Those who promoted the movement must be held responsible. The arrest is hereby ordered of Yang Tu, Sun Yu-chun, Ku Ao, Liang Shih-yi, Hsia Shou-tien, Chu Chi-chien, Chow Tzu-chi, and Hsueh Tzu-ku, who are to be handed to the judiciary, carefully and strictly tried and punished according to the law to the end that a warning may be registered for the guidance of future generations. Others are hereby pardoned in the interest of leniency."

Conservative newspapers, especially those printed in English, have advised strongly against the punishment of monarchists on the ground that such a step would make a reconciliation of the north and south even more difficult by embittering the old factional strife. Practically all the foreign ministers in Peking strongly advised against such action, and urged the revolutionists to drop all charges and center their efforts upon reconstructing the shattered and disorganized government.

Extreme revolutionists cried for blood, however, and demanded that the promoters of the monarchical movement be beheaded. For a long time Li Yuan-hung apparently held out against the movement to punish political offenders, but finally yielded to pressure brought upon him by a majority of the new cabinet. Yuan

Chi-jul, the premier, was strongly against the punishment movement. It is most offensive to practically all the military leaders, and it is extremely doubtful whether an honest effort will ever be made to punish the monarchical leaders named in the mandate. In the opinion of many foreigners, Li Huan-hung authorized the mandate merely as a face-saving expedient without thought that it would be put into effect. Practically all his former officials against whom it is directed had left before the mandate was issued. It is reported on very good authority that most of them had been officially advised to leave the capital, so the government would not be compelled to arrest them.

$2,000 INCOMES TO ESCAPE TAX

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Yielding to a flood of protests from the country and from senate and house members of their own party, democrats of the senate finance committee have reconsidered their decision to lower the exemption in the income tax law from $4,000 to $3,000 for married persons and from $3,000 to $2,000 for unmarried persons.

They voted, however, to make the rate of tax on the lowest taxable class of income 2 per cent instead of 1 per cent.

Had the committee declined to yield on the amendment, the democratic senate caucus probably would have reversed it. The amendment increasing the surtax on incomes exceeding $2,000 from 10 to 13 per cent is retained, and there is a probability that further increases in the surtaxes will be made in caucus.

Tonight the democratic caucus continued consideration of committee amendments and had before it the proposal agreed on by the committee late in the day striking out the specific excise taxes on munitions manufacturers and substituting a 10 per cent net profit tax on the profits of all manufacturers of munitions and wares that enter into munitions.

The committee also adopted today an amendment increasing the salaries of members of the proposed tariff board from $7,500 to $10,000 each.

Debate on the administration shipping bill dragged again today, Senator Gallinger, the minority leader, and Senators Harding and Jones continuing the republican attack on the measure before an almost deserted senate.

Senator Gallinger announced that the republicans expected to conclude their remarks in time to permit a vote on the bill by tomorrow or Monday.

INFANT BURIED.

Services were held this afternoon at St. John's Catholic church over Baby O'Connor, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael O'Connor, of 806 South Union street, who died yesterday. Interment was at Gethsemani.

COLUMBUS — Dr. Morton W. Bland, state registrar of vital statistics, attributes Ohio's birth rate increase this year to stringent enforcement of birth registration laws, and to the activity of the state. During the first six months of this year there were 53,951 births as against 49,353 during the same period last year.

KILLED BY FALL.

MARION, O., Aug. 12.—Tripping and falling into a small excavation where butter and milk were kept, Miss Myrtle Wood of La Rue, today received injuries from which she died an hour later.

AIRCRAFT INDUSTRY UNDER U.S. CONTROL

Machines to be Inspected and Aviators Trained by War Dept.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Plans were completed today by the war department for the complete mobilization of the aircraft industry of the country to make the army aero service the superior if possible of any in the world. In brief, the plan is this:

Government inspectors will be stationed at each plant in the country and the government O. K. will be on every part of each machine turned out.

Schools for flyers will be founded by the machine makers, backed by the government. The prospective flyers will be passed on by the government before entering the schools, and after the course will be enrolled as army flyers.

Advisory experts and army aviation corps experts will specialize in perfecting an aeroplane motor superior to any in existence.

The national guard will be completely equipped with aero squadrons. One squadron will be created for each militia division of the country, of which there are 16. A squadron will consist of 20 officers and 149 men. Each squadron will have 12 "first line" flying machines, 12 to replace these in case of loss or accident in action, and a further reserve of 12 machines.

The lessons of the European war have profited the war department so much, it was admitted today, that the aviation corps has perfected an army aeroplane which will fly faster and climb faster and higher than the formidable German "Fokker" machine. The heads of the corps are not satisfied, though, and will continue to experiment with every type.

In addition to the flying schools to be established at points where machines are made, the army will maintain separate flying schools at San Diego, Chicago and Minneola, L. I.

PEAS BIG AS MARBLES GROW IN COLORADO

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 12.—Peas as large as some marbles in pods half a foot long and bigger around than your thumb, have been developed by J. W. Price on his mountain ranch at Shawnee, up the South Platte from Denver, and at an altitude of 8,125 feet. Nothing like it for size was ever before seen in the vegetable world.

The peas are as luscious as you please. The seed originally came from England, but the Burbanking process which developed them into the monsters was a simple one of replanting year after year in the same field and at the same altitude and letting nature do the rest.

INDIANA PLUMBERS PLAN TO BECOME "ENGINEERS"

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 12.—The plumber may cease to be the butt of many a joke in Indiana soon. Despairing of living down his name, he is planning to change it. In the future, instead of a looser housewife calling for a plumber, she may call for a sanitary engineer. The Indiana State Association of Master Plumbers has taken the lead in the movement by applying to the circuit court for a change of name to the Indiana Society of Sanitary Engineers.

TEN TO FIFTEEN ARE KILLED IN WRECK

Traction Cars Come Together With Fatal Results to Many.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Aug. 12.—From ten to fifteen persons were killed and from 40 to 50 injured, some fatally, late today when two Johnstown and Ebensburg over the Southern Cambria railway collided head-on at Echo, 10 miles northeast of Johnstown.

The cars came together with terrific force and telescoped each other on a curve at the foot of a steep grade. The accident is said to have resulted, when the motorman on one of the cars lost control, and the car dashed past a switch and into a crowded car coming in the opposite direction.

All the nurses and physicians available in Johnstown and Ebensburg were rushed to the scene of the accident in automobiles.

Many of the injured brought to Johnstown in motor cars and placed in the hospital here.

AMBASSADOR SHARP RETURNING HOME

ELYRIA, O., Aug. 12.—Ambassador William G. Sharp will arrive in New York August 21 for a two months stay in the United States, most of which will be spent at his home in this city, recuperating from a recent severe illness which has covered a period of three months.

This became known today when Mrs. Sharp received a cablegram from her husband saying he would sail from Bordeaux on the steamer LaFayette. Miss Margaret Sharp, who is in Paris, will accompany her father home. Mrs. Sharp and the other children arrived in Elyria several weeks ago for a stay here.

It had been generally known that the ambassador had been ill and his definite intention to come home had not been previously announced, although it was recently reported that he might arrange a brief trip to this country, if conditions warranted his absence, in order to escape from the intense heat of Paris which has affected him greatly this summer.

COLUMBUS, Aug. 13.—There are nearly 100 cases of infantile paralysis in Ohio. Dr. Frank Boudreau of the state health board, expects to attend a conference of state and federal health officials at Washington, August 17, to discuss plans for greater uniformity in the effort to prevent spread of this plague.

AKRON.—Claiming it is more misused than any other dance Mayor Laub has just announced his intention of prohibiting one-steps on the floors of the city dance halls.

LIMA.—When the Allen county visiting board found the Lafayette jail locked, the mayor and marshal out of town, and no key, they ordered the key be left heretofore where it could be found. An investigation of the alleged unsanitary condition of the Lima city prison has been ordered by the board.

NEW YORK.—Answering his wife's cruelty charges in her separation suit, John L. Sydes says that during 21 years he never took a vacation, never went to a theatre or a base ball game, never drank or gambled and never let his affections wander from home.

FREMONT.—Miss Flora Hill, reporter on the Clyde Enterprise, fooled her editor and friends this week when she came to Fremont where she was joined by Dr. E. M. Beck, prominent physician in Clyde. They motored to Detroit and were married. The bride returned home and assistant in getting out the paper the next day and then announced her marriage.

SPRINGFIELD.—Owing to the ice famine, which has developed here, no ice was delivered today by any of the companies except in response to telephone messages from homes where there are babies, or where there is illness.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 12.—The plumber may cease to be the butt of many a joke in Indiana soon. Despairing of living down his name, he is planning to change it. In the future, instead of a looser housewife calling for a plumber, she may call for a sanitary engineer. The Indiana State Association of Master Plumbers has taken the lead in the movement by applying to the circuit court for a change of name to the Indiana Society of Sanitary Engineers.

OHIO ELECTRIC IS SUED FOR $3,000

Mrs. Dora Carl sued the Ohio Electric Railway company for alleged damages in the sum of $3,000 today. In her petition, the claim is made that on July 3 of this year, while driving on South Main street, near Circular, a street car overtook and ran into the buggy she was driving, causing the horse to become frightened, break the harness and run away and throw her to the brick pavement. The car was proceeding at the rate of 35 miles an hour, she says. Her right arm was injured and her back placed in condition she could not work for two weeks, causing permanent pain from the injury.

THE IDLER

H. D. Bowsher, of the Practical Stock Farm near Buckland, sold two Percheron mares to an Ashland county farmer a few days ago. They were loaded at Lima on a Pennsylvania train and billed to Loudonville, Ohio. Mr. Bowsher was one of the state lecturers at the Loudonville Farmers' Institute three years ago.

Chastine O'Harrow, of Lima, was elected first vice president of the American Guild of Piano Tuners at the close of the annual convention held in Detroit, Mich.

William Allen, negro, was released by Justice Morris this morning. He was arrested yesterday on a charge of petit larceny. The charge was preferred by Mrs. Spangnagel. Allen was accused of the theft of a water meter from the Spangnagel residence.

Mrs. J. A. Rambo, Miss Marie O'Brien and Miss Anna Schlosser will leave Monday for two weeks at Cleveland and Buffalo.

William Shaw was elected president, Jacob Burden, vice president, Clifford Shaw secretary, and Mrs. Louis Smith treasurer of the Shaw and Burden family reunion association, at the annual meeting at the fair grounds in Wapakoneta, Thursday. Clifford Shaw and Mrs. Nettie Musser, of Lima, attended.

A new "Stop-Go" sign will be placed at the Main and High street crossing this afternoon. Patrolman Ward Taylor will have easy sailing from now on. A large wagon umbrella has been fixed up in a very nifty style with the words "Stop-Go" painted on it. Taylor does not believe in standing in the hot sun all day so asked Chief McKinney to invest in the big shadower.

FORBID PARRIES IN NEW U. S. CAVALRY CHARGE TACTICS

Mounted Men May Smash
but Not Slash or Cut.

Troopers Are Instructed to Speed Up and Crush Enemy by Impact.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Aug. 12.—United States troopers must not defend themselves when making a sabre charge, except as their own thunderbolt onslaught overrides and smashes through the enemy.

No longer may the cavalryman slash and cut as in the typical battle painting. The new cavalry manual forbids it. He hammers, stabs and passes by.

It is the business of the trooper to transfer his immediate enemy and be prepared for a new foe. The cavalry is to be an offensive arm. The old-fashioned curved sabre encouraged parrying and fencing. The new sabre is a long, straight, tapering weapon which could hardly be used for slashing, but is magnificent as a thrusting weapon.

With this new system of cavalry warfare in the American army has developed a new spirit. Long months of practice have convinced officers that the new sabre usage is better adapted not only to the needs of war, but to American temperament as well.

"The sabre is solely a weapon of offense," says the new cavalry manual for the use of the new sabre, and confidence in this assertion, is what has caused the change in style of sabers, necessitating the expenditure of thousands of dollars and the condemnation of thousands of sabers already manufactured and stored away for future use. The new sabre has two keen edges, but the manual makes it plain that these edges are to assist the blade in piercing and to enable the trooper to withdraw the weapon quickly from the body of the enemy.

"A disabled foe is the best parry," declares the manual.

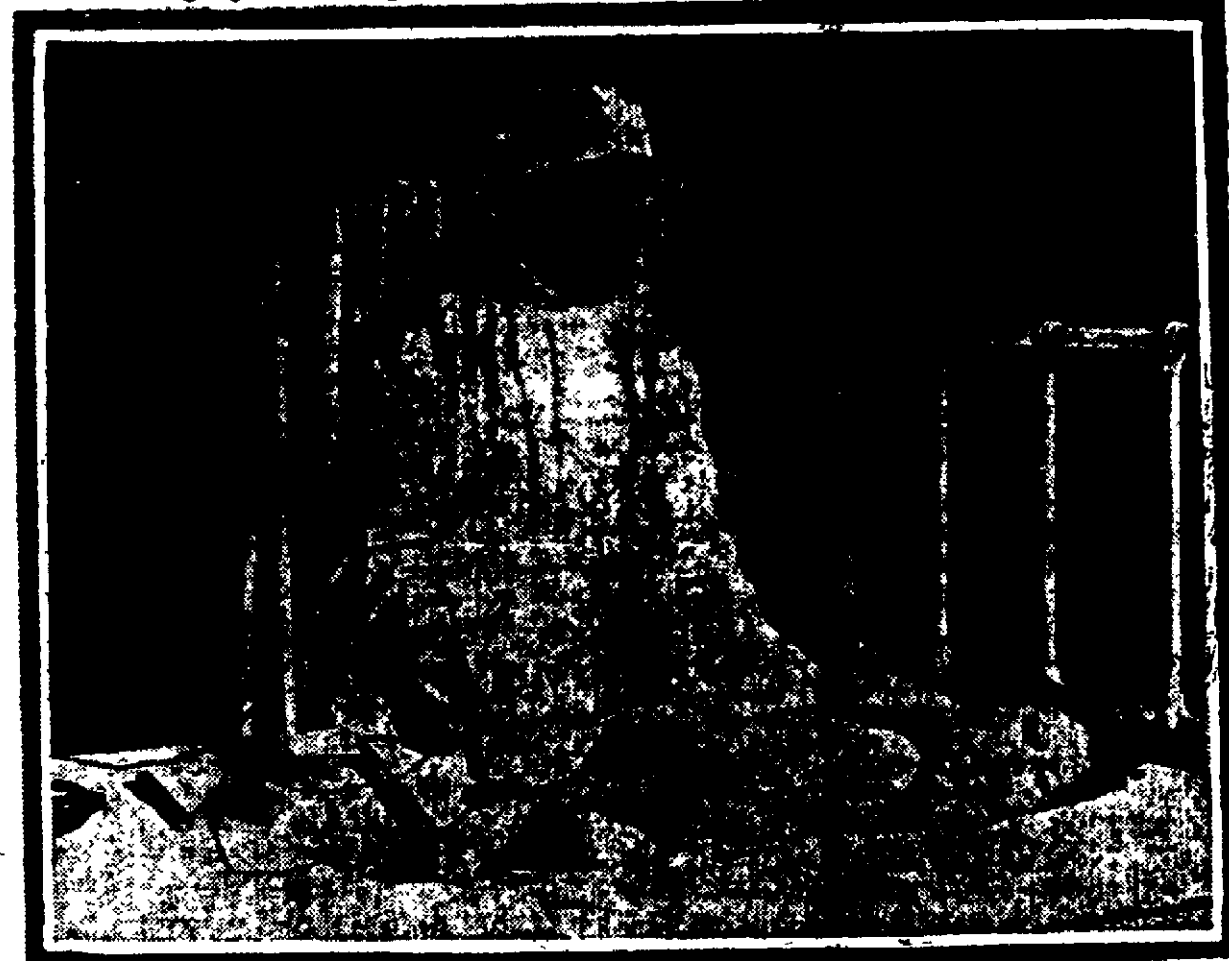

"The sabre is used in connection with the other offensive weapon, the horse," continue the instructions. "In all training the idea of speed must be conserved. No direct parries are taught because at the completion of a parry, the enemy is already beyond the reach of attack.

In the charge and in the melee the trooper must remember that on the speed of his horse and on his own offensive spirit rest nine-tenths of his success. To increase this offensive spirit the trooper is first taught on foot, the chief purpose being to increase ready attack, accuracy, quickness and, above all, to make the thrust instinctive.

A few guards are taught, but only the elementary. At first the instructor carries no sabre, but eludes the pupil by quickness of movement. This teaches initiative on the part of the student-soldier.

That many of the old regulars who carried the slashing sabre in many a hard-fought Indian struggle, and there are thousands in the army who have used the old-fashioned saber in actual warfare, find it hard to use the newer weapon, is shown by a paragraph of the manual:

"There is a strong tendency among the pupils under the old rules to seek the blade of the opponent and brush it aside before making the thrust. This is now prohibited. A quick attack, a wounded foe—that is what is sought.

"In the charge the trooper is merely a projectile, the sabre the point. Each man is a unit in a line rushing on the enemy with the one idea of riding him down and transfixing him with his right sabre at the position of charge sabre."

"Charge sabre" is the position when the weapon is extended horizontally with the body, point forward, elbow bent, blade slanting downward.

Here is what a trooper is supposed to do after the cavalry has struck the enemy and is engaged in a melee:

"When the ranks are broken he and his opponent have more room. Then he takes the position of guard toward the nearest enemy and at the right moment, makes a lunge and transfixes him. The speed of the horse is such that if the trooper waits to do fancy fencing with his adversary the enemy will be out of reach of him before the thrust can be extended, whereas, if he rides at him with sabre extended, lunge at the body, he will, in so doing, thrust the enemy's sabre aside with the full force of his attack and transfix him."

The American cavalryman is equipped with sabre, pistol and rifle, and the American cavalry is said to be the only cavalry in the world equipped with pistols from the officers down.

The lance is unknown to the American trooper except in the instructions he is given in combatting lancers. Formerly the lancers were an important part of the Mexican army but the long-range rifle has done much to eliminate them. The American cavalryman is taught that the greatest danger from a lance is when the point of that weapon first comes within reach of the extended sabre. "As the point of the lance comes within reach, lunge to the front," the manual directs. "Let the sabre slide along the lance at the body of the lancer. Be careful and do not jerk the reins of the horse to make him swerve in the least."

WHY NOT?

Every presidential year brings renewed interest in politics which cannot be stimulated by any other contingency. Every presidential year there are more "first voters" than in any other year, for many young men coming of age pay little or no attention to city elections in which the only real issue is one of personalities nor to state elections in which patronage plays the chief role. So in the year of a presidential choice there are thousands of youths in the state who are interested in politics for the first time, but who have not kept abreast of the movements of the times. For them is needed some form of introduction to the intricacies of party work, some means of understanding the American governmental system and some incentive toward patriotism which will not be too apt to carry blind partisanship.

Why not a Young Men's Democratic Club for Lima? That offers to the "first voters" and others who are still under 28 or 30 the congenial associations of a social organization, is limited to young men and keeps out the narrow class of old-timers which would try to gain control of such an organization and eliminate the partisan element now confined to the passing generation.

There are probably 500 young men in the city who could be induced to enter such a body. They have the vigor of youth and would find the presidential campaign a good place to use it. They would enter into the work of boosting the ticket as only young men can, stimulated especially by the enthusiasm something new and the love of a scrap so characteristic of men in the twenties.

An organization such as the Young Men's Democratic Club would do more to bring party harmony than anything the county could employ. The older men retain jealousies and harbor resentments when defeated, but the young man is more of as port. When he is licked he's licked, shakes hands, forgets, and goes about his business. No kidding the victor marks the camp of the vanquished. He would rather take a defeat like a sportsman and conceal his chagrin than have his fellows accuse him of being "yellow".

Turn 500 youngsters loose and the campaign becomes much less of a problem. The committee will still have to devise ways and means of getting the cash, but the boys will furnish the "pep". As long as no faction double-crosses the body and tries to gain control of the club it will be a great harmonizer. Why not?

A FINE ISSUE

Candidate Hughes is going to prosecute the campaign of the coming months on the basis of "pitiless publicity", according to his own declaration. Perhaps he believes that he has a new issue with a catchy slogan, but if he does he must admit that his six years of the bench have left him sadly behind the times.

That "pitiless publicity" cry is the same which Wilson raised three years ago in the Mexican question, stating that exposure of Americans owning Mexican mines and buying trouble to force intervention should be made by means of pitiless publicity.

But Hughes states that he expects to show up the cardinal sins of the corrupt Wilson administration, which is shot full of crime and graft and immorality and wickedness and other naughty things. And as his first card what do you suppose he has played? President Wilson appointed Democrats to office!

Isn't it terrible? This man Wilson is a party man—just think of that! Why, he put a Democrat in Durand's place as director of the census. There, now what do you think of Wilson?

Don't slap Charles Whiskers Hughes on the wrist, anybody—you'll stop his watch. It is certainly refreshing to hear him accuse the Wilson administration of giving jobs to friends instead of to enemies. It recalls the era between January, 1907, and October, 1910, when the same Hughes was busy firing Democrats out of the state house at Albany in order to appoint members of the Platt-Woodruff-Barnes "Black Horse Brigade". Platt "the Easy Boss" and Woodruff "the Ueasny Boss" are dead, but Barnes has come out for Hughes for the presidency.

Yes, it's a fine issue, about as hypocritical as a campaign can find. The arch-partisan of Empire state accuses of narrowness, a man who broke up the Smith-Nugent ring in New Jersey. Some persons have no sense of humor.

"No animosities" is the way Lafe Stulevant feels about his defeat. That's the way a candidate should talk after another has won out. It shows a good sport and a true Democrat.

REMINISCENSES OF 61-5

By N. C. A. Rayhouser.

At the beginning of the civil war—or to use a more polite phrase, the war between the states—the government was ill-prepared to meet the great crisis. The south had distinctly the advantage over the north in equipment and in fighting material. It was not generally thought that the south would begin hostilities, and if it did it would be willing to quit in three months.

On the 15th of April, 1861, President Lincoln called for 75,000 men. The response was all that could be desired. On the 3rd of May, 1861, another call for 42,000 men was issued. The states' quota were soon filled.

It was evident that the confederates contemplated an attack on the city of Washington. They had possession of Alexandria. From the White House the flag of the confederacy could be seen. It was feared that Arlington Heights would be occupied, a position that would have been of immense strategic advantage to them. They failed so to do Washington was practically defenseless.

On the 24th of May two brigades were ordered across the Potomac and the hills as far south as Alexandria were occupied and fortified by Union troops.

The struggle between the loyal citizens of the border states and friends of secession in the new began. Governor Jackson, of Missouri, attempted to force that state into the confederacy. He established a camp of about 3,000 militia at St. Louis. General Lyon, with a force of militia, early in May, 1861, dispersed the confederates and took 1,200 prisoners. Later he embarked a force on three steamers and sailed up the Missouri river to Jefferson City where he raised the American flag. Governor Jackson fled. In July a state convention declared for the Union.

When the confederate General Polk invaded Kentucky, the legislature of that state demanded of Jefferson Davis, the confederate president, the withdrawal of his troops. General Anderson, the hero of Fort Sumter, was directed to make adequate defense of Kentucky.

On the morning of the 21st of July, 1861, the battle of Manassas, or Bull Run, opened. The advantage at first was with the Union forces, but in the afternoon the loyal troops became demoralized. Early's confederate brigade re-inforced Johnson and Boregard, and the day was won by the confederates. This was the most important battle in 1861.

The result of the Bull Run battle gave the southern confederacy a sense of superiority and invincibility. That Washington was not attacked is a mystery, but the south had reason to be gratified at the result.

Early in the winter of 1862 the confederate forces were in possession of a strong line across the southern part of western Kentucky. Fort Henry on the Tennessee river and Fort Donelson on the Cumberland river were the two gateways of this line. The capture of these forts rid Kentucky of military domination in that region.

General Grant had gone up the Mississippi with 17,000 troops and seven gunboats, commanded by Commodore Foote. The fort was bombarded and on the 6th of February, 1862, surrendered. Most of the garrison at Fort Henry was sent to Fort Donelson before the bombardment began and before the Union infantry could cut off their retreat. (To be continued.)

TALKS ON BANKING

STATE BANKS.

There is no material difference between a state bank and a national bank except in the one aspect, mentioned in the last banking talk, namely that the state banks do not issue bank notes. While the laws of some states permit state banks to issue their own bills, the National Banking Act imposes a tax of ten per cent upon all such issues, thereby making them unprofitable.

The National Banking Act provides that every national bank shall have the word "National" in its title, the only exceptions being three banks, one in New York, one in Philadelphia, and one in Pittsburgh, which are allowed to use their old name with the initials "N. B. A." (National Banking Association) in their titles. Therefore the bank that does not have the word "National" in its title is a state bank. By that token you may distinguish between the two.

State banks are more numerous than national banks by nearly four to one, the reason being that in some states smaller capital is allowed for state institutions than for national banks, in some places running as low as ten thousand dollars.

State banks are under the jurisdiction of the states, and most of the states have a department of government called the "Banking Department", as a rule and the official in charge "Superintendent of Banks, Banking Commissioner, State Auditor," etc., who examines the banks under his jurisdiction, as a rule about once a year, but frequently more often, and to whom the banks must report usually without notice as called for, from two to four times a year.

State banks do precisely the same kind of business as carried on by national banks, namely, receiving deposits, paying checks, discounting promissory notes and making loans. State banks everywhere are permitted to lend on mortgage loan, a privilege denied the national banks, until the passing of the Federal Reserve Act. Even yet national banks in large cities cannot make a mortgage loan. The state laws are not uniform by any means and vary as the lawmakers have deemed wise. The main difference lies in the supervision and not in the manner of conducting business. In fact, if you were to go into a national bank as an employee and then in a state bank you would find no difference except in the matter of reports and supervision.

It would be unwise and unfair to even distinguish the one as better than the other. It depends altogether upon the men. A bank is no more or less than an aggregation of men, and stands or falls at the men it men in control and no better. It is conceded that our state laws, in much to promote the welfare of the country. The bank by its process of gathering the funds of the neighborhood and putting them to good use have added materially to the growth of communities. In places where it would seem there was no money, banks have been established and have prospered, and in prospering themselves have helped the community to prosper, for the process of gathering money and lending to

TRAVELETTE BY NIKSAL

BITTLES.

Bitlis is a city beautifully situated, but as the old hymn says, while natural beauties enchant the eye in every direction, the human species is a great drawback to the advantages of the neighborhood. The barbaric fanaticism and brutality that result in the massacre of so many thousand Armenians have flourished in Bitlis like weeds in black earth.

Two great streams dash out of the volcanic mountains here and flow together in the very heart of the city. Smaller tributaries radiate in half a dozen different directions from the same center. Thus Bitlis lies in the heart of a pretty cup, where the mountain waters pour together from all the neighboring hills. The ground rises from the stream-banks in sharp terraces; there are green, well kept gardens about the solid square houses, and above them in turn vineyards and orchards are spread.

Just where the two big rivers meet there rises a steep round-topped hill, crowned by the ruins of an old castle. The castle is said to go back to the days of Alexander, and is useful as a peg on which to drape scores of local traditions, and also as the best place in the neighborhood from which to get a view of Bitlis. From the crest of the hill you see the squat brown city clinging to its hillsides, the narrow twisting streets sharply outlined against the dark housewalls by their coating of white snow, if the month is any one from October to April Bitlis lies high and cold.

The uniformity of appearance that the streets present is due largely to the fact that almost all of the houses are built from the same porous, brownish-black volcanic stone which covers the plateau round about. This rock is sawed into square building blocks and used to build the square, angular houses, as well as for walling in the little garden surrounding the dwelling. The houses have almost the appearance of little fortresses, and those of the Armenians have need to be such when the mountain Kurds set out to riot and destroy.

NEW YORK—Mrs. Pauline Siegfried fainted when she heard a moan from a trunk which had been left by a boarder who disappeared several weeks ago. Investigation showed the groans coming from a phonograph.

HEALTHHINTS

HAVE YOU THE FUNDS OF HEALTH?

"No funds."

That's the way your check is stamped and branded when your bank balance gives out.

Every good business man takes mighty good care not to overdraw his account—for overdrawing is bad business.

But how many men give a thought to their balance in the First Natural Bank of Health?

Not many—and the majority go on overdrawing every day.

They overdraw when they oversleep in the morning.

They overdraw when they overeat at noon.

They overdraw by overworking late in the day.

They overdraw when they overdrink and overplay at night.

And they keep on overdrawing, day in and day out, for years, because the accounting system in the First Natural Bank of Health differs from that of an ordinary every-day bank, and they don't get brought to a sudden stop with the warning, "No Reserve".

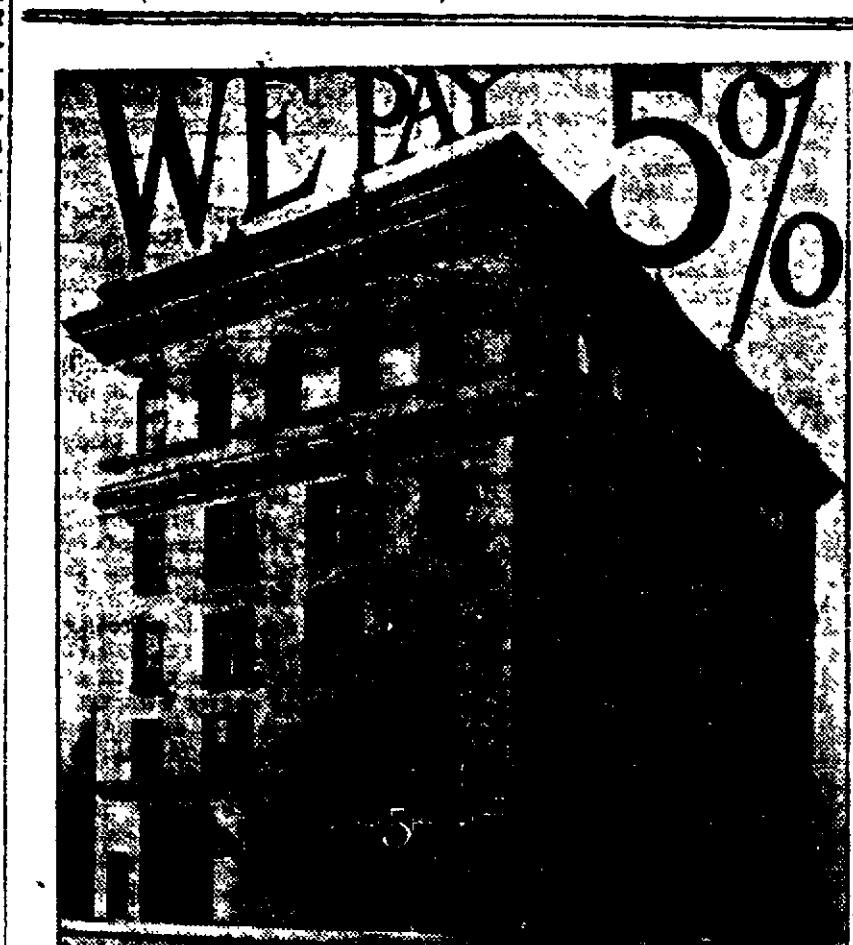

So they keep on until the day when Disease draws a whopping big sight draft—and then they find their body bankrupt and carry a physical asset in sight.

WILMINGTON, O., Aug. 12.—Late official election returns made known this morning show Daugherty carried his home county by thirty-one votes. Republicans cast 3925 votes; democrats 468.

CLEVELAND—Office tenants in the Rockefeller building this morning found waste-baskets still brimful and last night's dust still on their desks. Thirty women, who walked out last night because the owners would not grant them an increase of wages and a decrease of working hours, had not returned to work.

RULE

Of Common Sense
 DICTATES AGAINST CARELESSNESS

The greatest enemy of mankind, says a philosopher, is carelessness.

The greatest cause of carelessness is laziness and indifference.

When one is too indifferent to do a thing for himself he is called lazy. When he is too lazy to take pains he is called careless. When he is careless he is unsuccessful. Then he blames his luck.

Indifference is at the base of carelessness. Therefore the best way to break the habit of carelessness is to take interest. No matter what it may be, you can force yourself to become more careful by taking more interest in things.

In government, as other walks of life, interest on the part of the individual will stamp out inefficiency on the part of the group. If every voter takes an interest in the affairs of the community, the community will show it by improvement. Thus it is apparent that each should know what is going on, investigate, judge for himself and base his opinion on what he KNOWS, not on what he thinks.

The proposed conversion of the Lima Telephone system into a city-owned institution obliges every tax-payer to look into the proposal for himself, rather than take the word of others. He should demand facts and convince himself from them. He should know what ideas are involved and where they will result. Otherwise he may be working against the best interests of himself and of his community.

Make the backers of municipal ownership show you figures and facts. Don't be indifferent about the project. Indifference means carelessness—and did carelessness ever bring success?

The Week In Society

MARIE N. NAGLE

"MEN may come, and men may go, but I stay on forever," seems quite true of the warm weather we have had the past month. Society, however, with the characteristic authority of the auto-corrector, absolutely ignores any discomfort or interference with her plans, and sanctions and patronizes the dinner, the dance, the luncheon, the bridge party, and the golf links. But now in mid-summer, Missy packs her trunks and flies to the sea shore, to the lakes, or the summer camp. Here she seeks rest, and new energy for the winter season which is not so far away as on might think. Indeed, it is so near that velvet coats, fur sales and satin hats are old stories. And now with the waning of one season, and the birth of another, it is "The King is dead! Long live the King!"

A party of some of the younger social set motored to Columbus this morning to attend the field day at Camp Willis and a dance at the Athletic club tonight, returning to Lima Monday morning. Mrs. Clem Thompson chaperoned the party, which included the Misses Helen Thompson, Frances Parsons, Harriet Thompson, Hazel Wright and Violet Bradley; Messrs. Harry Wright, Franklin Cover and Paul Timmerman.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Johns spent several days with Mr. and Mrs. William Herring of Wapakoneta.

An exceptionally pretty dinner was the form of entertainment selected by Miss Magdalene Stolzenbach with which to compliment her guest, Miss Margaret Stolzenbach, of Pittsburgh. It was given last evening at her home. Pink killarney roses placed on a mat of ferns centered the table, and candles shaded with pink and green added to the lovely effect. Original place cards, which showed a great amount of ingenuity, marked the places of the guests, who were the Misses Stolzenbach, Mildred Calt, Margaret Abrams, Rosemary Kahle and Marie McKenna; Messrs. David Feiler, Fred Simpson, Donald McInnis, Fred Williams, Yvonne Johnson and Harold Cress.

Discussion as to the best names to be given to women launching out into new callings, continues to hold an honored place amongst the topics of the day in England, says the C. S. M. The debate on conductress or conductorette is passed, but another discussion has been raised by a farmer in Sussex. He advertised, some time ago, for a "cowman or a cowlady", and at once the matter was taken in hand. It was contended that "cowlady", in any event, would not do, and that "cowwoman" was ugly. An earnest plea was accordingly made for "cowgirl". Whatever may be said as to the superior merits of this last term, it is certainly true, as one authority points out, that the word need no more connote ingenuous youth—one objection against it—than does "cowboy".

Miss Ruth Elliott of Brice avenue was hostess Wednesday afternoon at a very pretty porch party. Cards and music were the afternoon's diversion. Garden flowers in a variety of kind and color were effectively used as decorations. A luncheon concluded a delightful time.

MARRYING A BUTTERFLY

By MRS. EVA LEONARD Y

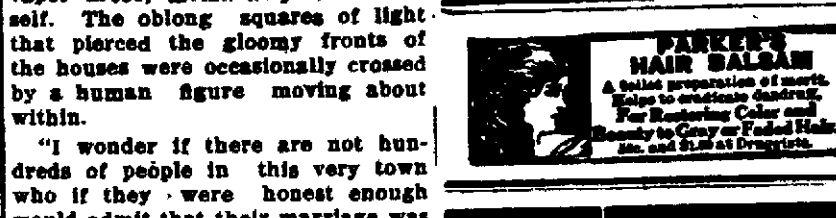

Ralph decides on drastic measures and Ethel concludes that it is time to leave her husband.

THE weather was raw and chill. It was one of those damp, evenings of early fall. The wind, chill as it was, felt agreeable as it blew on Ralph Gordon's hot cheeks. Every street lamp was the center of a misty circle of light, and he instinctively looked at the sky to see if the prophecy of rain was to be fulfilled. The pavements were greasy with black mud, and in the roads were deep pools of muddy water, for it had rained all the early part of the week. The streets were deserted and from the sodden ground a great vapor arose, melancholy as life itself. The oblong squares of light that pierced the gloomy fronts of the houses were occasionally crossed by a human figure moving about within.

"I wonder if there are not hundreds of people in this very town who if they were honest enough would admit that their marriage was a failure," he thought, brooding darkly as he walked down the long dismal street. He had had many misgivings about his marriage, but had put them away and tried to make himself believe that all would straighten out in the end. Now he saw the futility of such hopes. He knew that the trivial question of a sixty-dollar debt contracted by his wife had not made him come face to face with the truth about his marriage. He also knew that present difficulties could be more or less satisfactorily adjusted. What could not be altered was the character of his wife. She had deceived him. Before this had happened he had regarded her careless extravagance as he might the vagaries of a child. They were very annoying, but she might outgrow them. But the cunning plan to make him believe that her mother had bought the suit was a sharp goad that prodded up all the fierceness of his nature.

"She won't alter her ways and I shan't stand them." His lips pressed into a hard line as he thought. "I can see that our marriage won't last long. The forces that are too strong to be downed are at work to shatter it."

It was nearly midnight when he turned in at his own gate and noisily let himself in at the front door. Ethel was sitting with her head on her arm asleep in her chair by the library table. The fire in the grate threw a soft light over her slight girlish figure. Her eyes were red and there was a pathetic droop about the mouth. Ralph was tempted to

LOS ANGELES BEAUTY ENGAGED THIRD TIME TO NOBLEMAN

MISS PATRICIA BURKE. ©INTL. FILM SERVICE.

Many noblemen, some with more titles than money, have wooed the pretty and vivacious California girl. At least two were accepted as eligible suitors, among them Jean de Ropex de Ayala, Marquis de Fuenfanta, of Seville, the Spanish grandee of Spain, for whom she threw over Prince Ferdinand de

AMUSEMENTS

THE FAUROT PICTURES.
The return of Jesse L. Lasky's magnificent production of "The Secret Orchard," brings to the Faurot a formidable array of screen favorites and critics today. Besides the beautiful and accomplished Blanche Sweet this engrossing romance by Agnes and Egerton Castle enlists the services of such popular favorites as Carlyle Blackwell, Edward Mackay, Theodore Roberts, Marjorie Daw, Gertrude Kellar, Sidney Deane, Loyola O'Connor and others of the Lasky forces. If that is not an all-star cast where will you ever find one? Mr. Lasky's picture of "The Secret Orchard" is from the play by Channing Pollock. Adapted from the successful novel by the Castles, it has found favor both on stage and screen, with Mr. Lasky's beautiful production for the films in natural preference. It won unanimous praise when first shown at the Faurot and its return is in response to many requests. It is accompanied on the program at the Faurot today by new Paramount Pictographs and some fresh and highly amusing "Mishaps of Musty Suffer."

For Sunday and Monday the Faurot will offer to its legion of Paramount regulars another splendid Lasky production in "The Dream Girl," with charming Mae Murray as the featured player. This lovable artist leaped into instant favor with picturegoers in her delightful appearances in "To Have and To Hold" and "Sweet Kitty Bellairs." Her present vehicle is from the pen of Jeanie Macpherson, who has many successful film plays to her credit, and she is said to have provided Miss Murray with a role that, while entirely different from her "Jocelyn" or "Kitty" is no less attractive in the hands of this brilliant little star. In her support will be found Theodore Roberts, who gives one of his superb character portrayals, James Neill, Charles West, Earle Foxe, Mary Mearns and others of the Lasky organization. "The Dream Girl" will be accompanied by a new Paramount-Bray cartoon comedy, "The Wild and Woolly West," and the first bi-weekly edition of the Pathe News with its interesting panorama of important world events.

Those who saw Roi Cooper Meegrue's brilliant comedy, "It Pays to Advertise," at the Faurot last winter, will warmly welcome his thrilling drama, "Under Cover," when it is presented in picture form at the Faurot on Tuesday and Wednesday. The event takes on additional importance from the fact that this sensational success of the speaking stage has two such popular favorites as Hazel Dawn and Owen Moore to act its leading roles on the screen. This is the first time that Miss Dawn and Mr. Moore have appeared together on the screen, though both have won world wide reputations by their work in former productions by the Famous Players. "Under Cover" filled the Cort theater in New York for months in its stage form and its success as a silent drama has been no less marked. The co-stars will have the support of William Courtleigh, Jr., Frank Loise, Ethel Fleming and Ida Darling in the prominent roles of the play. New Burton Holmes travel pictures, with "The Real Bohemia" as the subject and the second bi-weekly edition of the Pathe News are also on this program.

Ralph Herz, celebrated musical comedy star and comedian par excellence comes to the Faurot on Thursday and Friday in "The Purple Lady," a Metro production of Sidney Rosenfeld's great stage success. Mr. Herz is regarded as one of the finest men on the stage today and he will prove a valuable addition to the Metro's list of screen stars. Irene Howley, a pronounced local favorite, is his leading lady in this picture.

Simpson, Judge Becker and Perry Anderson, C. S. Peltier, Ivan Wagner and Ken Riker are in charge of the lawn fete.

Shannons Coming to Meet Independents In Lima Tomorrow

Lima's Line-up.

The game with the Dayton Cadets was called off owing to the poor showing of that team in the past three weeks. In their place the Columbus Shannons were booked. The Shannons need little if any introduction to the fans. They have performed here on two previous occasions, falling before the strong Lima aggregation both times. The first game in the series was the most interesting seen at the north side yard this season, resulting in a 2-1 win for the Independents. Although Lima decisively downed the Shannons in the second game, it was only through the breaks being against the visitors.

Since the Shannons have last shown here, they have won three straight games. One over the St. Marys, Ohio, team, resulting in a 1-0 score, and permitting Drake's name to go into the hall of fame by letting the Saints down without a bingle. The Columbus management has guaranteed to work Drake against the local club. The Shannons carry a high class line of ball players and with good pitching can hold their own with the best amateurs of the state.

Fans will undoubtedly be glad to hear that two former Independent "stars" will be seen once more in the local lineup. "Boggs" McClellan has been signed by manager Holleran, to cover the initial sack for the rest of the season; while Joe Egan, the "home run king" of the Lima team last year, will be seen in his old position, right field. The present lineup will be considerably strengthened by the addition of this pair of "fence busters," and the Independents from now on will not have to fear when they come in contact with such teams as the "Lima Lights."

"Tommy" Carroll, clever southpaw, will be on the mound for the locals tomorrow. Carroll has been going at a great clip this season, leading the Independents to victory in 11 out of 12 games played. Flannery will be shifted back to second base, pushing Dickey out of the game. Harrison and Westby, as well as Dickey, will be kept on the bench.

Two umpires will work in Sunday's game, one for balls and strikes, and the other for base decisions only. The double umpire system has been arranged in order to give better satisfaction to the patrons of the Lima park, who have been dissatisfied with the one umpire system.

St. Louis Gets 2 Off Indians

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 12.—St. Louis defeated Cleveland twice yesterday, 5 to 3 and 3 to 1, and moved to a tie with Detroit for fourth place, four and a half games behind the leaders.

St. Louis played an uphill game in the first contest. Bagby weakened in the sixth, however, and passed Hamilton and Shotten. Miller singled and Sisler doubled, scoring two runs. Miller scored a minute later as Pratt went out at first.

In the seventh, Severoid and Lavan batted for Hamilton, drove in two runs with a single.

For the visitors, Gandil drove in a run in the second with a double and Daly scored him with a single. Chapman's triple in the fifth drove in Cleveland's other two runs.

Bunched hits off Klepper and Beebe won for the locals in the second game which was called on account of darkness.

Tigers vs. Delphos Tomorrow

The Lima Tigers will meet the strong Delphos, Jr. team Sunday afternoon at the Haller street park, at 2:30. Two weeks ago the "Jungle boys" defeated the Delphos aggregation by the decisive score of 7-2. The Tigers are going good this season, winning 12 out of 14 games straight. Powell and Phillips will do the battering work for the local team. The Tigers hurl a challenge to any amateur team in or out of the city. They would especially like to meet the "Moways," and are positive they can beat their star pitcher "Hiker" at will.

REDUCTION OF FIELDER BATTING BALL HARD

Casey Stengel.
Wilbur Robinson's crack sun gardener, Casey Stengel, is considered by baseball sharps to be one of the greatest outfielders in the game today. Little was heard of the loose armed, round shouldered, Teuton until he commenced slugging the ball this season.

His great batting has won many a game for the Dodgers this year, and his sensational fielding has saved them from defeat more than once.

Reds Beat Phillies In Ninth

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Aug. 12.—Cincinnati won the final game with Philadelphia here 3 to 2.

With one out in the ninth, Duguey on second and Stock on first, Killifer sent a drive to left field past Neale. Duguey and Stock scored and Killifer reached third. Umpire Rigler declared that a bleacherite had touched the ball as it bounded towards the stand and that Killifer was entitled to only a single. Duguey was sent back to third base and Stock to second. Knetzer then fanned Paskeert and caused Cooper to force out Killifer, ending the contest. Score:

Broadway Team Goes to Convoy

The fast Broadway Baseball club will travel to Convoy, Sunday, to take on the strong city team of that place. With their victory over the Mendon Arlingtons, last Sunday, the local ball tossers are confident of annexing another to their long list.

"Bob" McClellan, the leading batsman of the Broadways, will be missing from the lineup in Sunday's game. The Ottawa club has secured his services.

The Convoy team has defeated the Lima Giants two games this season and are confident they can down the Broadways nine. Westby will probably start the game for Lima with ailing ready to replace him, if necessary. C. Dickey will do the backstopping.

After the game with Convoy the Broadways will go to Defiance on the 20th, and Marion on the 27th.

Church League

The Baptists won from the South Side by scoring a run in the fourth inning in a game played at the College grounds yesterday afternoon.

The German Reforms and Olivet played five innings at the Solar grounds with the final count 4 to 1 in favor of the Presbyterians. Score:
South Side 0 1 0 0—1
Baptists 0 1 0 1—2

Batteries—Howard and Ream; Dickey and Miller.

German Reforms 0 1 0 0—1
Olivets 2 0 2 0—4

Batteries—Frazer and Jennings; Bowman and Shingledecker.

The games scheduled for next Tuesday are: Olivet-Baptists, College; Grace-Baptists, Solar.

SHORT SPORT

Fielder Jones' prediction of being in the first division by August 11 came true. In St. Louis the Browns held the coveted honor. But in Detroit they are still in fifth place. The reason is that the Tigers and Browns are tied.

The double victory over the Indians placed the Browns only 1/2 games behind the leading Red Sox.

The Dodgers go into the "crucial" series with the Braves today, leading by five games.

The Giants wound up the series with the western clubs by trimming the Cardinals in a double header. Then they hike for Quakertown.

Meanwhile the Yankees are back home for a long stay to try and regain the ground lost on the disastrous trip when they dropped from first to sixth place.

The Reds finally won a game, trimming the Phillies in the ninth.

The Tigers halted the White Sox with a whitewash brush. It made the fourth straight defeat for the Sox.

M'Henry Is Home

Clyde McHenry, Lima's bear cat welterweight, arrived in the city Wednesday to train for some of his coming bouts. Clyde will probably work out with his old pal Jack Dahill. McHenry, while here, will try to hook up a match with Johnny Newton, Philadelphia boy. The two met some time ago, battering each other for six rounds with an even break.

MARKETS

HEAVY TONE SHOWS
ON WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—There were some mixed movements in the stock market at the start today, but before the first quarter of an hour ended, outside of the copper stocks, the market showed a heavy tone, with nearly all the important issues ranging under yesterday's close. There was a dull demonstration in Reading at the start, that stock advancing $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$, but it lost the gain in the next few minutes. Most interest centered in the copper. Anaconda advanced $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ and fractional gains were recorded in Utah, Inspiration and Ray Copper. The publican of the Mercantile Machine reorganization plan was followed by selling of the two classes of stock. The preferred declined to $\frac{1}{2}$, and the common, after opening up $\frac{1}{4}$ at 28, receded to 27.

The close was: Allis-Chalmers 23; Allis-Chalmers pfd 77; American Agricultural 74; American Beet Sugar 87; American Can Co. 56; American Car & Foundry 59; American Coal Products 144; American Cotton Oil 51; American Locomotive 72; American Smelting 96; American Steel Foundries 51; American Sugar Refinery 109; American Tel. & T. 130; American Woolen 44; Anaconda Copper 83; Atchafalaya 102; Baltimore Locomotive 72; Baltimore & Ohio 86; Bethlehem Steel 44; Brooklyn Rapid Transit 84; California Petroleum 18; Canadian Pacific 175; Chesapeake & Ohio 61; Chicago & Northwestern 126; Colorado Fuel & Iron 44; Chicago Mil. & St. Paul 96; Colorado Southern 31; Chino Copper 50; Consolidated Gas 138; Corn Products 13; Crucible Steel 70; Distilleries & Securities 45; Erie 36; Erie 1st pfd 53; General Electric 168; General Motor 56; Goodrich Co. 71; Great Northern 39; Great Northern pfd 118; Illinois Central 101; Inspiration Copper 51; Interboro 18; Interboro pfd 73; International Harvester 114; Central leather 55; Kansas City Southern 24; Mo. LABOR SITUATION
IMPROVES, WHILE
CROPS FALL OFF

General Feeling of Optimism Prevails in Business Circles.

Reassuring developments in the labor situation tend to offset official confirmation of material crop deterioration, says Dun's Review.

Optimism is tempered by the disappointing harvest prospects, but confidence in the stability of business is not measurably lessened. Current consumptive demands are sustained in remarkable volume for the period and, though a few cancellations are reported, there is still a general disposition to make extensive provision for the future, which is all the more noteworthy because of the prevailing high costs. It is a significant and wholesome feature that purchases are governed by well-defined requirements. Pressure upon producing forces, which are hampered greatly by adverse working conditions, continues and much difficulty is experienced in effecting prompt deliveries, the shortage of rolling stock in some sections adding to the problems of shippers. With the abatement of domestic buying, however, the leading steel interest has made further progress in reducing accumulated contracts, whereas textiles activity increases rather than diminishes and some of the large mills are overwhelmed with new business. The same statement does not apply in respect to leather and footwear, but these lines are doing well and it is characteristic of practically all trade and industrial reports that preparations for the fall and winter are undertaken with both confidence and vigor. There has been much less than the usual midsummer lull nearly everywhere, though the effect of recent high temperatures over a wide area is seen in diminished retail distribution, many buyers remaining away from the shopping districts during the heated term. With the end of the hot weather and the vacation season, continued business expansion, on a more conservative and wholesome basis, is to be expected.

FEDERAL PROBE IS STARTED ON WHEAT ADVANCE IN CHI.

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—Announcement that the federal authorities have an investigation under way to determine if there has been manipulation in the recent skyrocket advance in the price of wheat, has revealed the fact that agents for the department of justice for some time have been checking up the wheat in storage in the northwest. Men sent out by Hinton G. Clabaugh, chief investigator for the department of justice here, a week before the bullish government crop report was made public, found there will be 654,000,000 bushels of wheat from this year's crop. Of the 1915 crop, millers and dealers held out 160,000,000 bushel. The annual home consumption is about 620,000,000 bushels. Approximately 200,000,000 bushels can be exported without endangering the home supply, according to these investigators.

United States District Attorney Cline, who is conducting the investigation, also is looking into the flour situation and a reported plan here to increase bread prices. Master bakers declare the nickel loaf is a thing of the past—that it costs just as much to wrap and handle five cent as ten cent loaves and they expect to make their profit in the future on the larger loaf.

FOR HOW LONG?

Lima Raises a Pertinent Question.

When a neighbor tells us that he has recovered from a serious illness, the first question that naturally arises is, "How long will he keep well?" Temporary relief is one thing, but a lasting cure is altogether different. There is nothing temporary about the work of Doan's Kidney Pills as the following evidence proves beyond a doubt.

Mrs. W. L. Reed, 719 Jackson St., Lima, says: "I suffered a great deal from pain in my back. My attention was called to Doan's Kidney Pills and I started taking them. Before long, I was cured." (Statement given October 18, 1906.)

The Cure Lasted.

On November 5, 1914, Mrs. Reed said: "The endorsement I gave Doan's Kidney Pills before still holds good. The cure they made has been permanent."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Reed has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Prop., Buffalo, N. Y.

show, as well as other contests in growing. Displays will be in a big tent and will be arranged the day previous to the picnic.

SIBERT-ERNST REUNION.

The annual reunion of the Sibert and Ernst families was held Thursday at Fawcett park. Nearly 50 members of the two families attended. Mack Ernst of Lima, was elected president; V. T. Sibert of Logan, vice president; Mrs. Max Himer of Monroeville, Ind., treasurer, and Mrs. L. A. Dannaher of St. Marys, secretary.

A delicious picnic dinner was served at noon, the afternoon being taken up with a musical and literary program.

LIMA AUTO SALES CO. HAVE OPENING

Hundreds of enthusiastic motorists today visited the new home of the Regal and Detrolers, handled by C. W. Cotner and Wilbur Miller, 133 East Spring street.

Much time and expense has been borne by these men in making this formal opening a huge success and the expression of all visitors made them feel that their efforts were well worth while.

The front portion of the building is nicely decorated and presents a beautiful display room for the cars that these men are making famous. Excellent music pleased the crowds. Souvenirs were given to both ladies and gentlemen.

Practically all of the visitors made an inspection of the entire building and found a most complete and ideal arrangement for this type of business. The mechanical department is located on the lower floor while the storage section is on the ground floor. Here there is ample room for 50 cars.

The doors will be open to visitors yet this evening and it is expected that an enormous crowd will take advantage of the opportunity to witness this inauguration of the Lima Auto Sales Company.—Adv.

Mrs. Carolyn Elinor Haines, well-known pianist and teacher, announces that she will present Ernest Schelling, "America's own master pianist", in Lima next season.

Schelling is as well known as a composer as he is as a pianist having created nothing less than a furor last season at Boston, New York, Washington, Philadelphia, Providence, and Baltimore, playing his own compositions with the Boston Symphony orchestra.

Reports of his success in Detroit with the New York Philharmonic orchestra will have reached the music lovers in Lima. In this approaching season Schelling plays in Detroit with the Cincinnati Symphony orchestra.

This famous pianist is known as the greatest keyboard virtuoso America has produced.

A stated communication of Garrett Wyckoff lodge No. 585, F. & A. M., will be held Monday evening, August 14th, 1916, at 7:30 o'clock. All Masons in city cordially invited.

JOHN H. DANIEL, W. M.

A. I. U. NOTICE.

A number of the national officers and prominent men will attend and make addresses.

EXCLUSIVE STORE FOR MEN TO OPEN NEXT WEDNESDAY

Jolley & Chenoweth's New Place on West Market at Once Popular.

"For Young Men and Men Who Never Grow Old," is the way Jolley and Chenoweth characterize the new store they have opened in the Savings building, at 204 West Market street.

And from all indications they have been manifest from the very beginning, this is to be a very popular shopping place for men who like things with a touch of originality and exclusiveness. In the interior, appointments of the store, this spirit of originality has been carried out perfectly by the artistic red tile floor and prettily finished fixtures.

The stock of furnishings, too, has been selected carefully and offers a complete assortment of apparel for men. Everything has been chosen with a view toward offering only the latest and most approved styles with quality that is assured.

The proprietors have been unusually busy meeting their customers, owing to the large host of acquaintances which they have, and they are deeply appreciative of the interest which has been shown to their new enterprise.

A formal opening has been set for next Wednesday evening when music and flowers will add in welcoming the general public to the new store.
